Copenhagen wins Best Northern Europe Cruise Port award

Copenhagen has been voted Best Northern Europe Cruise Port by Spanish-speaking cruise guests at the prestigious Cruceroadicto 2025 Awards. This is the fourth cruise award won by Copenhagen during the past five months

Award winners are determined directly by votes from Spanish-speaking cruise guests who have travelled at least once on a cruise during the past 12 months. Candidate ports for the award are only those accessible to the Spanish-speaking market. With almost 70,000 arrivals in 2025, Spanish cruise guests made up the third-largest single nationality group visiting the Danish capital by ship.

The award highlights Copenhagen's growing appeal in one of Europe's most dynamic cruise markets and underscores the continued investment by CMP and partners in guest experience and efficient port operations. It also underlines the diversity of cruise guests visiting the city, where many different nationalities and age groups continue to be represented.

"This award is especially important to us because it comes from Spanish speaking cruise guests themselves. Their trust and enthusiasm motivate us to continue delivering a world-class cruise experience in Copenhagen," comments CMP's Commercial Cruise Director, Luis de Carvalho.

The Cruceroadicto Awards are considered the most influential cruise audience awards in the Spanish-speaking world, reflecting the actual preferences and travel patterns of cruise travellers. In 2025, a total of 19 winners were selected across different categories from a field of 1,184 candidates, including 592 ports.
